Vouchercube Software GmbH is a Vienna-based start-up founded in 2016. Its executives combine 30 years of e-commerce / CRM know-how in tourism, ticketing and entertainment industries. Vouchercube is implementing the next big step in the future of cashless payments in e-commerce with a new technology: its unique software handles vouchers, loyalty systems as well as cashless solutions in its own high-security barcode system and still integrates seamlessly into any existing customer's digital setup. We are looking for a

Senior Frontend Developer - TypeScript & JavaScript (m/f)

(halftime/fulltime in Vienna)

The core product of VoucherCube is a set of embeddable JavaScript widgets. These widgets are built with Angular 2 and TypeScript. For our backend administration tools we use Angular1, gulp and JQuery. You will improve existing widgets as well as developing new ones, working closely with our UX Team and our backend team. The focus lies of course on the technical side but also on the improvement of conversion and usability. Furthermore, you will have the opportunity to take over responsibility from project conception till final deployment.

You will ...

- be an important part of the setup and responsible for the coordination of our UX Team
- analyse user metrics, propose and implement improvements
- work with modern tools and explore new technologies
- improve our existing widgets (shop widget, drag and drop voucher generator, event room plan)
- create new embeddable web widgets
- create dashboards and input masks for our administration tool

You have ...

- worked with various languages such as JavaScript, JSON, TypeScript, and HTML5?
- good knowledge of tools and libraries like jQuery, AngularJS (2), Bootstrap
- interest in new technologies and tools
- a degree in computer science or relevant job experience

We offer ...

- interesting and challenging tasks involving modern technologies in a young and dynamic team
- the opportunity to Setup and lead the frontend and UX Department
- flexible work options
- a good work / life balance
- social benefits

Interested? We are looking forward to your application!

Please send your application including CV to Georg Sattler, CTO (georg.sattler@vouchercube.com). Only direct applications will be considered. Offers of employment agencies / recruiters will not be answered.

For this position we offer, depending on experience and qualifications a gross monthly salary of 3000.00 EUR, based on a full-time employment with readiness of overpayment, depending on qualification and/or experience.
